Dear Mr. Garrison,

Will you
take an early tea
with us this afternoon on your way to the meeting? - My sister Mary hints
with me in hoping

We shall have the pleasure of seeing you & your daughter. I hope Mr Thompson will be able to come too.

You will meet
my sister Dora &
my daughter Phyllis -
No one else.

I believe we are of the number —
smaller than I had hoped, who can really rejoice with the slaves at the down-
fall of the system:

I never imagined
the Fortes & Co. House
one, that it would require more virtue

to rejoice with them than to suffer with them. But we live I learn — even of the most bigoted & perverse.

In haste

~~and~~ your ever
grateful & obliged

A. J. Chapman
